This item is printed on demand - Print on Demand Neuware - The significance of a change in PaO₂ occurring in a patient with cardiovascular instability cannot be ascertained unless the values for PvO₂ and CvO₂ are known. A fall in PaO₂ could 2 reflect worsening of pulmonary function or deterioration of cardiac output (with resultant increase in systemic oxygen extraction). PEEP/CPAP would be an appropriate therapy in the former case but frankly deleterious in the latter if applied prior to cardiovascular stabilization.
